Inside The Numbers

After a relatively even opening round where both fighters found openings to land their power punches, the tide turned in the second round, where Carrington landed 60% of his power punches, and scored the fight's lone knockdown. Vivas survived, but could not prevent Carrington from teeing off on him before the referee halted the bout at 53 seconds of the third round. Carrington was deadly accurate, connecting on 53% of his jabs, and 56% of his power punches.
