Inside The Numbers

Though Cardenas came in tonight as a substantial underdog who'd never fought a 12-round fight, he was not intimidated by one of the world's best pound for pound fighters. Cardenas landed a hook in the closing seconds of the second round that put Inoue down for the second time in his career. Cardenas' hook was similar to the hook Luis Nery floored Inoue with. Inoue survived and used his jab to get back into the fight. From the third round on, Inoue landed 55 jabs while Cardenas landed 24. Cardenas kept trying to detonate another left hook, and he stung Inoue with a body shot in the fifth round, but alas, Inoue was too much. He landed 49% of his power punches, 48 alone in a big sixth round. Inoue scored his own knockdown in the closing minute of the seventh round, and forced the stoppage at 45 seconds of the eighth round.
