Inside The Numbers

Foster put on a masterclass to unify the WBC, IBF and WBO featherweight titles. Navarrete, who overwhelms opponents by moving forward and swarming them, landed nothing in the first round and connected on just 19 percent of his punches after landing 27% in his previous 11 fights. Foster out-landed him 157-99 and landing 44 more power punches while connecting on 41 percent of his own. Though he had a lead going into the final round, Foster did not play it safe. He chased the stoppage and dropped Navarrete twice with right hands. Navarrete survived to the final bell, but all three judges scored it for Foster, 118-108 twice and 115-111.
